

PEARLS OF WISDOM FOR BUDDING CONSERVATIONISTS

Stick with it!

"Conservation is a very slow process, so it needs continuous efforts over many decades. Thus, conservationists must be patient and ready to volunteer as well as work for a long time for impactful and sustainable conservation."

DR TULSHI LAXMI SUWAL

Teamwork is key

"As an up-and-coming conservationist, you should be thinking about building a team, building capacity, and ensuring there's collective visibility. A conservationist should do everything in their power to move away from that 'one-face' model, which is unsustainable and extremely damaging to conservation, and instead give recognition to everyone working on that issue as opposed to just themselves."

DR SHIVANI BHALLA

Focus on community

"For me, the exchange with the local community that lives in a different situation than me helped me understand the reality that we faced in conservation in Madagascar."

MAMY RAZAFITSALAMA

Check out our full
Pearls of Wisdom Toolkit
for more top tips!

