

Blog Editor

Conservation Optimism is looking for creative, detail-oriented editors to join our Blog Team. You and our other Blog Editors (currently three) will work with writers to ensure their submissions align with our guidelines, then set them up to publish and promote their work. Join our international community of optimists to inspire positive action for the planet through the power of stories!

Time Commitment: 3 – 5 hours per week

Responsibilities:

- Liaise with Conservation Network of Optimists Worldwide \(ConservationNOW\) members about their blogs;
- Send new ConservationNOW members the blog guidelines;
- Send reminders to ensure that new members send their blogs in a timely manner;
- Identify potential for re-blog of content published on other platforms;
- Liaise with external bloggers;
- Edit and upload the blogs on the website;
- Attending virtual meetings.

Ideal Qualities:

- Familiar with topics of conservation science and advocacy;
- Strong editing and writing skills;
- Flexibility to work with a team spread across multiple time zones.
